

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a method for inducing immunosuppressive cells by cultivating human cells with the use 5 of a culture device having an affinity for protein and the culture device to be used therefor. According to the present invention, immunosuppressive cells can be efficiently induced by using a solid culture and can provide an efficient therapeutic system for diseases caused by hypersensitivity of the immune system with 10 less side effect.

20
19
18
17
16
15
14
13
12
11
10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1